“ When I was younger and my took me to my dad's ,,my aunt Beverly said come in her room and sit and talk. Aunt beverly talked to me and that was the first time i felt closer to her. Last summer my Aunt Beverly needed some help with her closets and basic cleaning ,while I cleaned and put her clean clothes away ,organized her closets I had a chance to have mire one on ones with her.she talked about my families birthdays and about things when my mom was pregnant with me.and I grew to love her even more, she had a beauty and gentlness,and patience I hope to find ,she had strength she wasn't completely aware of and a light that shined from within,I found we loved alot of the same things. In grateful for those precious times we talked woman to woman ,I love you Beverly and thank you for all you gave and still give to me in your transformation. You are now one with the Goddesses and the gods ,and I know in my heart your shining light is brighter than in this former life.
