“ Just learned of the passing of Corrine. Corrine and I were pregnant with our first babies almost at the same time. She was very cute with, "Tell me everything I need to know about being pregnant and being a mom." Visiting her in the hospital meeting her son, Colin. Learning later when I saw her at a store, she expanded her family and had Gwen. We enjoyed sharing stories of children, family, and life. She was a natural at it. She was happy, always busy and stretching for the next new thing. She was a prime example to what a strong, brave, smart young woman is. I will cherish our memories together and feel lucky I have had time with her. I will never forget her or her beautiful family. I am sending unconditional love, and will think of her every time I'm in nature. One of the many activities we had in common. Thinking and praying for all of you, George, Colin, and Gwen.
Love,
Jackie, Dave and kids.

“ God blessed me my bringing my courageous cousin back into my life about a year and a half ago. She was so happy to spend some time last Christmas with me, her Aunt Candy, her cousin Monty and our children. She had a tough life from the time she was born but being surrounded by so many who loved her helped carry her through life's challenges with such a positive attitude. No matter how much she was suffering, she never complained and never lost her faith. Her whole face always lit up when speaking of her children that she deeply loved and she was so proud of finally earning that Bachelor's Degree. You always viewed life as an adventure and I hope you are on the adventure of a lifetime now with Drew at your side. Turtle on sweet cousin.

“ Corrine and I met at the Paths and Pavilion Gazebo behind the Philadelphia Art Museum. We crossed paths for a reason that day. She had her Sydney Turtle with her and she told me her story. Corrine was like my twin...her love for life and positivity Shined brightly even through her pain in between treatments at the Hospital. Corrine was a beautiful soul. I told her I would continue to adventure on...either with her by my side or if she lacked the energy in the future....I would continue to carry her silently on my back. I consider myself blessed to have met such an amazing Earth Angel and now a Heavenly Angel. Corrine spoke highly of her two beautiful children....she told me her son was into music and he loved the Classics...she was so thrilled. Corrine....Your legacy will go on especially with your son....he will create masterpieces inspired by you in the future through his music...I am certain. Rest easy my sweet friend! Till we meet again! Love to you along with my condolences to everyone you touched in life! Turtle On!
