

Eileen D. Migliaccio

July 13, 2019

Eileen D. Migliaccio, 59, of Philadelphia, PA. died suddenly Saturday, July 13, 2019 at Nazareth Hospital following a brief illness.

Born August 5, 1959, to the late Frank M. Migliaccio and Dolores Dooner, she grew up in the Northeast and was raised mostly by her beloved grandparents, Jack and Eleanor (MacAnally) Wilson. She was a 1977 graduate of Lincoln High School.

The most important - and happiest - work of her life was the raising of her only child, Melissa, in whom she instilled a love of fur babies; a quiet, unshakeable self-confidence; a strong work ethic; and a blunt, taciturn honesty that repelled all forms of BS. The roots of that tree were deep, and the apple did not fall far from it.

In addition to her parents and grandparents, Eileen was pre-deceased by her brother, Thom Migliaccio-Fenton. She is survived by her daughter Melissa, wife of Jimmy Myers, Phoenix, Arizona; four step-grandchildren and five step-great-grandchildren; her brother-in-law Steve Migliaccio-Fenton; and four grandpuppies. In addition, she is survived by her friend, companion, and second mother, Marie McCormack, Philadelphia, Marie's daughter and grandson, Carol and Nicholas Mimoso. The last years of Eileen's life were devoted to caring for Marie, Marie's late son Robert, as well as anyone else who walked through the door of the house. She will be deeply missed by all.

In accordance with her expressed wishes, there will be no services, and at a future date, her ashes will be scattered to the wind in Colorado.

Comments

“ Rest in peace Ei

Sue - July 16, 2019 at 11:09 PM

“ R.I.P. Eileen...Thank you for being there for Thom on his final days.

Steve - July 20, 2019 at 10:28 AM

“ RIP

Cousin Eileen you now have company as cousin Kate McShane just past yesterday morning she is the daughter of Helen Dooner/Guyer your Granddads sister.
See you in heaven some day.

lorraine Beaulieu-Dubzak - August 27, 2019 at 05:35 PM